Walking with vulnerable children and young people

Three perspectives on children and young people in state care, the juvenile justice system, and the issues of unemployment

SPEAKERS

Bernie Geary OAM, Child Safety Commissioner of Victoria and former CEO of Jesuit Social Services, has worked with vulnerable young people and their families for over forty years. During this time he has been an advisor and advocate on issues relating to vulnerable children and young people.

Glen McClure, Coordinator of Community Justice Group Conferencing, works closely with Brosnan Services Management to oversee the operation of the Group Conferencing program. He will be speaking about his field of restorative justice for vulnerable young people involved in the youth justice system.

Lorraine Nesbitt, a Senior Manager at the Jesuit Community College, speaking on the issue of training and employment pathways for disadvantaged and disengaged young people.
